Steel Fabrication

Aseel Innovation Contracting delivers in-house quality assurances and state-of-the-art equipment for burning, bending and rolling of stainless steel materials and carbon steel.

Our steel fabrication division provides thousands of tons of top-quality structural steel projects annually to construction, manufacturers and other firms throughout Saudi Arabia, and Central Asia. All our functional designs are built and with the highest quality materials and the best workmanship available in today's marketplace.

Steel Fabrication Works

DESIGN AND ENGINEERING

Every steel fabrication project begins with detailed design and engineering. Engineers and draftsmen create precise technical drawings, 3D models, and fabrication blueprints.

MATERIAL SELECTION AND PROCUREMENT

Based on the design, the right type of steel is selected. This can include carbon steel, stainless steel, alloy steels, or special grades for high-pressure or corrosive environments.

WELDING AND ASSEMBLY

Cut and shaped parts are assembled and welded together by certified welders. Welding methods can include MIG, TIG, arc welding, or specialized techniques depending on material.

Structural Fabrication

At Aseel Innovation Contracting, we bring structural designs to life with advanced fabrication techniques, skilled teams, and certified quality processes - ensuring every structure we build stands strong for decades to come.

Structural fabrication provides the strong, reliable frameworks that make large buildings, factories, bridges, stadiums, towers, and other infrastructure possible. It combines design flexibility with strength, speed of construction, and cost efficiency - making steel the material of choice for modern construction.

Piping Fabrication

At Aseel Innovation Contracting, we deliver piping fabrication services with strict quality control, certified welders, advanced tools, and a commitment to safety and precision- ensuring our piping systems perform reliably in the most demanding environments.

A reliable piping system is the lifeline of any industrial facility-safely transporting critical fluids and gases to keep operations running smoothly. Poor fabrication can lead to leaks, pressure drops, or catastrophic failures, so precision and compliance with industry standards like ASME B31.1 (Power Piping) and ASME B31.3 (Process Piping) are essential.

Piping fabrication is the process of preparing, manufacturing, assembling, and installing pipelines that transport fluids and gases in industrial facilities such as oil & gas plants, refineries, power plants, chemical plants, water treatment facilities, and offshore platforms,
